BRIEF IN SUPPORT OF DEFENDANTS' AMENDED MOTION TO DISMISS

Plaintiffs, all of whom are, or were, state detainees at the Dallas County Jail, challenge their conditions of confinement under the auspices of a Section 2241 habeas claim. The Fifth Circuit has held that habeas relief is not an appropriate vehicle to challenge conditions of confinement. As such, Plaintiffs have failed to state a claim for which relief can be granted, and their habeas claims should be dismissed. FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(6).

Plaintiffs' habeas claims should also be dismissed because they have failed to exhaust their remedies in state court, and have not provided any basis on which one can reasonably conclude that Plaintiffs are excused from exhausting their state law remedies. Id.

Finally, the post-adjudication Plaintiffs may not use § 1983 to seek release because doing so would undermine the validity of their convictions. Those claims should also be dismissed. Id.

I. Standard of Review

To survive a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim, a plaintiff must plead "enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007). A claim is facially plausible when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw a reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009). Assuming they are true, a plaintiff's allegations must be enough to raise a right to relief above the speculative level. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555.

II. Plaintiffs' habeas claims must be dismissed under Rule 12(b)(6) because they have not exhausted available state court remedies.

In order to be eligible for habeas relief a petitioner must have exhausted his or her available state remedies. Dickerson v. Louisiana, 816 F.2d 220, 224 (5th Cir. 1987). The common law exhaustion doctrine imposed on Section 2241(c)(3) was crafted based on concerns about the delicate state–federal balance in order to protect state courts' opportunity to confront and resolve initially any constitutional issues arising within their jurisdictions as well as to limit federal interference in the state adjudicatory process. Braden v. 30th Judicial Circuit Court of Ky., 410 U.S. 484, 489–92 (1973).

Texas law provides for the reduction of bail and release thereon. TEX. CODE CRIM. P. art. 17.09 § 3. The Texas Code of Criminal Procedure provides factors that guide judicial discretion in setting bond amounts. Id. art. 17.15. Texas procedure also affords clear timeframes for mandatory bond reduction or imposition of a personal bond. Id. art. 17.151. Habeas relief is also available under Texas law. See, e.g., In re McCray, 324 S.W.3d 685 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2010, orig. proceeding).

Plaintiffs now allege both that "Section 2241 contains no exhaustion requirement conceivably applicable to prisoners seeking COVID-based discharge," ECF No. 39 at 44–45 ¶ 103, and that they have exhausted available state court remedies. ECF No. 39 at 40 ¶ 90. Plaintiffs' claim that Section 2241 contains no applicable exhaustion requirement is incorrect. Braden, 410 U.S. at 489–92; Dickerson, 816 F.2d at 224. Plaintiffs' allegation that Plaintiffs have exhausted state court remedies is conclusory and must be disregarded. Formulaic recitation of elements is never enough to meet the federal pleading standard. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555.

The only exception to the exhaustion requirement that Plaintiffs cite is the exception for when state procedures do not afford swift vindication. Id. The pre-adjudication Plaintiffs do not contend that they sought expedited bond review hearings or initiated any state court remedy. The post-adjudication plaintiffs likewise do not allege that they initiated any state court proceedings to seek release. They merely say that these processes "would take months under normal circumstances, and certainly will now take longer." Id. Plaintiffs' argument fails for four reasons.

First, Plaintiffs pretend, without evidence, that they would lose at every stage of the habeas process and be forced to pursue appeals. Second, while Plaintiffs ignore the bond reduction process, they attach an e-mail from the Dallas County Criminal District Courts Manager, Keta Dickerson. ECF No. 1-11 at 4. Ms. Dickerson informed court-appointed counsel that the Criminal District Courts are:

- Currently open;
- Conducting essential hearings by any and all available means;
- Prioritizing bail hearings and jail pleas;
- Taking all reasonable steps to avoid exposing people to the threat of coronavirus; and
- Working to streamline an electronic system for hearing bond matters and jail pleas.

Case 3:20-cv-00832-E Document 54 Filed 04/19/20 Page 4 of 11 PageID 1372

ECF No. 1-11 at 4. This evidence does not support a contention that available state law remedies, such as bond reduction or personal bonds, are futile or will take months; it supports a finding that state courts are "prioritizing bail hearings and jail pleas" and "taking all reasonable steps to avoid exposing people to the threat of coronavirus." Id.

Third, Plaintiffs' attempt to escape their obligation to seek adequate state law remedies fails because they offer no facts in support of their conclusory allegation that COVID-19 will lengthen the time it takes for them to obtain relief in state courts. ECF No. 1 at $38 \ \ 86 \ \ 8n.103$. Plaintiffs fail to mention that the only Dallas County courts that are closed are municipal courts.¹ Municipal courts do not have jurisdiction over offenses that may result in incarceration. TEX. GOV'T CODE § 29.003.

Finally, available state law remedies have been anything but futile or slow in the last month. Plaintiffs rely on the Dallas County Jail's daily population report data for April 6, 2020. ECF No. 1 at 30 ¶ 71. A cursory review the daily population reports demonstrates that Texas courts are moving more quickly to safely release defendants during the COVID-19 situation.

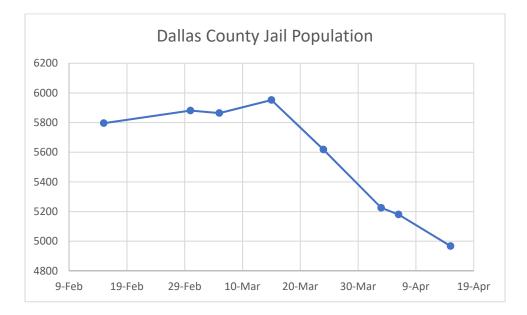

The Supreme Court of Texas and the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals jointly issued their first order regarding court operations during COVID-19 on March 13, 2020. Misc. Order No. 20-9042 (Tex. Mar. 13, 2020); Misc. Order No. 20-007 (Tex. Crim. App. Mar. 13, 2020).² The daily population report to which Plaintiffs refer shows a steep decline in Dallas County Jail population since March 13, 2020. On March 15, 2020, the total Jail population was 5,952. The population declined to 5,618 on March 24, and again to 5,225 on April 3, and finally to 5,180 on April 6. Today's Jail population is under 5,000.³

Plaintiffs' Complaint acknowledges that detainees have been released recently. ECF No. 1 at 26 \P 61. The data to which Plaintiffs refer, however, demonstrates just how diligently the Dallas County Criminal Court at Law and State District Court judges have been working to release detainees when possible.⁴

Habeas relief is readily available in Texas state courts, as recent trends demonstrate. Specific cases demonstrate just how swift the remedy has been in Dallas County courts during COVID-19. Alberto Lopez filed a Petition for Habeas Corpus on April 2, 2020. Exhibit 2. Mr. Lopez was released to a special program on April 10, 2020. Chad Ross filed a Petition for Writ

³ In evaluating a Rule 12(b)(6) Motion, courts may consider not just documents named in Plaintiffs' Complaint, but also documents that, if not named, are pertinent, central, or integral to Plaintiffs' claim. Bryant v. Avado Brands, 187 F.3d 1271, 1281 (11th Cir. 1999). Documents relied on by a defendant are considered part of the pleadings if they are referred to in the plaintiffs' complaint and are central to plaintiffs' claims. Collins v. Morgan Stanley Dean Witter, 224 F.3d 496, 498–99 (5th Cir. 2000).

⁴ For context, Defendants attach the remainder of the relevant public reports to which Plaintiffs refer. Those reports are attached as Exhibit 1.

Exhibit 4.⁵

When habeas petitioners have not received relief in trial courts, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has processed habeas cases quite rapidly over the last few months. See, e.g., In re David Allen Mackley, No. WR-91, 105-02 (Tex. Crim. App. Apr. 15, 2020) (filed March 25, 2020, habeas relief granted April 15, 2020);⁶ In re Samuel Herschel Clauder No. WR-90, 708-02 (Tex. Crim. Plaintiffs have not alleged that they have exhausted state remedies. There is no support for Plaintiffs' conclusory allegation that state law remedies have been slow or unavailable. At a minimum, it is incongruous for Plaintiffs to allege that state procedures do not afford swift vindication; attach evidence that Dallas County courts are open, using all available means to conduct essential hearings, and prioritizing bail hearings and jail pleas; and not allege or show that any plaintiff has sought any relief in state court.

Plaintiffs' choice to file suit in federal court—thereby delaying the availability of state court remedies—is not a reason for the Court to excuse Plaintiffs from complying with the exhaustion requirement. To conclude otherwise would create an exception that swallows the exhaustion requirement in derogation of the sovereignty of the States. The Court should not excuse Plaintiffs from seeking available remedies in state court.

There is no reason to depart from the well-established rule that habeas plaintiffs must exhaust state court remedies before seeking relief in federal court. Plaintiffs' habeas claims should be dismissed.

III. Plaintiffs have not stated a claim for habeas relief because their claims raise questions unrelated to the myriad causes of their detention.

Habeas is not available to review questions unrelated to the cause of detention. The "sole function" of a writ of habeas corpus is to grant relief from unlawful imprisonment or custody and it cannot be used properly for any other purpose." Pierre v. United States, 525 F.2d 933, 935–36 (5th Cir. 1976). Plaintiffs complain about their conditions of confinement, not the cause for their detention. Plaintiffs do not allege that any order of confinement was procured or issued improperly. Plaintiffs do not allege that their convictions and the judgments thereon were entered in violation of their constitutional rights. Instead, they say the conditions of their confinement require release. Whatever their conditions of confinement, they are not related to Plaintiffs' "cause of detention." As such, Plaintiffs' Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus must fail, and the Court should dismiss those claims pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6).

Case 3:20-cv-00832-E Document 54 Filed 04/19/20 Page 8 of 11 PageID 1376

Plaintiffs attempt to distinguish Pierre—which remains binding precedent—by saying that it is not clear how Section 2241 would apply in the context of COVID-19. This argument fails. "Allegations that challenge rules, customs, and procedures affecting conditions of confinement are properly brought in civil rights actions." Schipke v. Van Buren, 239 Fed. App'x 85, 85–76 (5th Cir. 2007). Even when a habeas petitioner alleges that inadequate conditions of confinement create the risk of serious physical injury, illness, or death, a petition for a writ of habeas corpus is not the proper vehicle for such a claim. See, e.g., Spencer v. Bragg, 310 Fed. App'x 678, 679 (5th Cir. 2009) (affirming the lower court's dismissal of petitioner's habeas claim even though he alleged that the conditions of confinement endangered his life). A petition for habeas corpus may not be used as a vehicle to challenge conditions of confinement. As such, Plaintiffs have not pleaded, and cannot plead, any set of facts under which they could conceivably obtain habeas relief. Their habeas claims should be dismissed. FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(6).

IV. The post-adjudication Plaintiffs fail to state a § 1983 claim because they challenge the fact of their confinement and seek immediate release.

Plaintiffs' Complaint makes no effort to hide what they seek: "immediate release is the only medically and legally sound remedy, rather than mere mitigation and/or further proceedings." ECF No. 1 at 37 \P 85. "Plaintiffs . . request immediate release of all Plaintiffs and Class Members." Id. at 4 \P 9.

A prisoner in state custody cannot use a § 1983 action to challenge the fact or duration of confinement and seek immediate release. Preiser v. Rodriguez, 411 U.S. 475, 489 (1973). He or she must seek federal habeas corpus relief or appropriate state relief instead. Id. When a prisoner's action demands immediate release or a shorter period of detention, it lies at the core of habeas corpus, and the prisoner may not pursue relief under § 1983. Id.

Case 3:20-cv-00832-E Document 54 Filed 04/19/20 Page 9 of 11 PageID 1377

Under Preiser, the post-adjudication Plaintiffs may not seek release under § 1983. When they are not seeking relief contrary to Preiser or ancillary relief predicated on release, the postadjudication Plaintiffs' prayer seeks to alter the terms of their valid convictions and sentences. See, e.g., ECF. No. 1 at 42–43 ¶¶ 2, 5(a), 5(d). This relief is unavailable because it would necessarily imply the invalidity of their convictions and sentences. Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477 (1994). Plaintiffs ask this Court to impose additional restrictions on the validity of state court judgments ordering Plaintiffs to serve terms of confinement. According to Plaintiffs, they may not be sentenced to a term of confinement absent judicially recorded findings by clear and convincing evidence that the individual poses a danger to others that no condition other than confinement can mitigate. See, e.g., ECF No. 1 at 42–43 ¶¶ 2, 5(a), 5(d). Plaintiffs cite no authority that this requirement arises from the Constitution, or that such a requirement can be retroactively applied to invalidate state court judgments. There is none.¹¹ Because they seek release or additional findings to support their state court judgments, which would necessarily invalidate those judgments, the post-adjudication Plaintiffs have failed to state a § 1983 claim.

V. The Court should abstain from entertaining Plaintiffs' claims.

In a recent memorandum opinion, Judge Rosenthal explained the prudential reasons for a federal court to abstain from wading into the fracas to interfere with ongoing state efforts to respond to dynamic conditions. ECF No. 31. Abstention is particularly warranted where Plaintiffs seek to deploy the blunt instrument of constitutional litigation to obtain crude court-fashioned remedies that carry the threat of contempt. Id.; see Benzman v. Whitman, 523 F.3d 119, 125 (2d Cir. 2008). Abstention is also counseled by the strong policy that federal courts should not intervene in pending state court proceedings, such as those in which the pre-adjudication Plaintiffs are involved. Younger v. Harris, 401 U.S. 37 (1971); Middlesex Cnty. Ethics. Comm'n v. Garden State Bar Ass'n, 457 U.S. 423, 431 (1983).

If the Court does not dismiss all of Plaintiffs' claims, the Court should nevertheless abstain from intervening at this juncture in order to allow state officials to weigh the competing interests at play in managing the Dallas County jail during this COVID-19 outbreak.

CONCLUSION AND PRAYER

Under binding Fifth Circuit precedent, Plaintiffs cannot use habeas claims to challenge their conditions of confinement. As such, Plaintiffs' habeas claims should be dismissed under Rule 12(b)(6). Further, Plaintiffs do not allege that they have attempted to access state law remedies, much less exhaust them. Federal courts do not entertain state prisoners' habeas claims unless those petitioners first exhaust state court remedies. In light of the available state court remedies, and the fact that Plaintiffs' own evidence demonstrates the efficacy of those remedies, there is no good reason for the Court to excuse Plaintiffs from the exhaustion requirement. Their failure to exhaust is an additional and independent reason for which Plaintiffs' habeas claims should be dismissed.

Not only can Plaintiffs not use habeas as a vehicle to challenge the conditions of their confinement, the post-adjudication Plaintiffs may not use § 1983 to collaterally attack their conviction or seek relief. Because the post-adjudication Plaintiffs' § 1983 claim seeks release, those claims should be dismissed under Rule 12(b)(6) as well.

Regarding the remaining claims—the pre-adjudication § 1983 claims—the Court should abstain from ruling on the basis of Younger.

Defendants also pray for all other and further relief to which they are justly entitled.

APPLICATION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR RELEASE DUE TO TARRANT COUNTY SHERIFFS OFFICE REFUSING TO TAKE POSSESSION OF INMATE

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

COMES NOW, Alberto Lopez, Defendant in the above-styled and numbered cause, by and through his attorney of record, Matthew Toback and files this Application for Writ of Habeas Corpus for Release due to Tarrant County Sheriff's Office Refusing to take Possession of Inmate, and, for good cause shows the following:

I.

Defendant is illegally confined and restrained of his liberty by the Sheriff of Dallas County, Texas in the Dallas County Jail in Dallas, Texas. Defendant is charged in Dallas County with Capital murder and has posted bond on this case. He is also being held for a charge in Tarrant County of Possession of a Controlled Substance 1G-4G PG2, a 3rd degree felony. As of the date of this Writ's filing, defendant has posted a bond on the Dallas County case and Tarrant County Sherrifs Office has refused to pick him up.

Case 3:20-cv-00832-E Document 54-2 Filed 04/19/20 Page 2 of 5 PageID 1398

On March 26, 2020, Defendant posted a bond for the Dallas County Capital Murder charge. On April 1, 2020, the Tarrant County Sheriffs Office came to Dallas County Jail to pick up defendant and refused to take possession of him saying that Dallas County Jail was unable to provide documentation that defendant was free of the COVID-19 virus, even though defendant had previously tested negative for COVID-19 at the jail. Defendant is being held against his will because Tarrant County refused to take possession of him and left the jail without him. Due to no fault of Mr. Lopez, he is still being held against his will in Dallas County Jail.

III.

Defendant, a 19-year-old male, was born and raised in Dallas County, Texas. He also has family members residing in Dallas. Defendant has been continuously incarcerated at the Dallas County Jail since Dec. 20, 2019.

IV.

Defendant respectfully requests this Court to release defendant from Dallas County Jail because Tarrant County will not take possession of him.
