1 MEMORANDUM AND POINTS OF AUTHORITIES

2 1. INTRODUCTION

3 Rather than address the fatal overbreadth and standing-based deficiencies that 4 are apparent in their First Amended Complaint (“FAC”), Plaintiffs’ Opposition brief
5 instead resorts to conclusory assertions and sweeping generalizations. In particular, 6 Plaintiffs’ Opposition fails to address their untenable request for class-wide relief, 7 including their impermissible “fail safe” class definitions.

8 Plaintiffs’ arguments as to the viability of their individual claims fare no 9 better. Throughout the Opposition, for example, Plaintiffs go beyond the four 10 corners of their FAC and assert new and different “facts” that are unsupported in the 11 record. This conduct alone demonstrates that Plaintiffs’ FAC fails to state a claim 12 upon which relief can be granted. In other areas, their omissions are glaring.
13 Plaintiffs do not rebut that their “Official Capacity” claims are asserted against 14 officers who held no supervisory role, and that their “Individual Capacity” claim is 15 asserted against a named official Individual Defendant who is not alleged to have 16 had any personal involvement in Plaintiffs’ alleged searches, seizures, or 17 prosecutions. Plaintiffs also fail to address the inadequacies of their federal claims 18 against the Individual Defendants; their Monell and equal protection claims against 19 the City; and the deficiencies of their state law claims. As is now plainly evident, 20 Plaintiffs’ allegations—and their arguments—are conclusory. In one last attempt, 21 Plaintiffs suggest they should be given leave to amend, but they offer no explanation 22 of how they can cure the deficiencies. Reason being: they cannot. The request to 23 amend should be rejected.

24 2. LAW AND ARGUMENT

25 A. The Class Components of the FAC Should be Dismissed or 26 Stricken.

27 To survive a motion to strike, Plaintiffs’ class definitions cannot be confusing, 28 overbroad and include “uninjured” members (an Article III standing concern), or 1 amount to “fail safe” definitions. Yet, Plaintiffs’ Opposition largely ignores each of 2 these issues. See Hawkins v. Camperet-Cassani, 251 F.3d 1230, 1238 (9th Cir. 2001)

3 (“The district court is not ‘to bear the burden of constructing subclasses’ or otherwise 4 correcting Rule 23(a) problems”).

5 On its face, the primary Class definition is confusing because the City’s police 6 department does not convict people of crimes, as Plaintiffs incorrectly plead. Thus, 7 the Court should strike the Class definition.

8 Plaintiffs do not dispute that the Class definition inappropriately includes 9 uninjured persons who would nevertheless qualify for membership. Merely being 10 detained or arrested—and not later convicted of a crime —can be a lawful series of 11 events resulting in no injury. The Class definition impermissibly includes “members 12 who are not entitled to recovery.” See Ebarle v. Lifelock, Inc., No. 15-cv-00258, 13 2016 WL 234364, at *5 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 20, 2016). Nothing in Plaintiffs’ Opposition 14 cures these Article III standing and over-breadth problems, which inherently stem 15 from inclusion of uninjured persons in a class’s membership. See Sanders v. Apple 16 Inc., 672 F.Supp.2d 978, 991 (N.D. Cal. 2009) (class definition stricken because it 17 included uninjured members); Mazza v. Am. Honda Motor Co., 666 F.3d 581, 596 18 (9th Cir. 2012) (overbroad class definition exists where not all members were 19 injured). These are threshold, dispositive issues that cannot be ignored when 20 attempting to state a viable class claim. Plaintiffs’ silence on each these key cases is 21 telling.

22 Rather than address these issues and cases, Plaintiffs cite an inapposite district 23 court case from Arizona. See Ortega-Melendres v. Arpaio, 836 F. Supp. 2d 959, 993
24 (D. Ariz. 2011), aff’d sub nom. Melendres v. Arpaio, 695 F.3d 990 (9th Cir. 2012).
25 Ortega involved certification of an injunctive relief class. The decision did not 26 analyze the argument Defendants raise here—that over-breadth because of lack of 27 injury to members and thus a lack of Article III standing is a basis to strike a class 28 definition at the pleading stage. Plaintiffs’ fallback argument is that a class definition

1 is not overbroad if defined “by the activities of the defendants.” (See Dkt. 41 at 16).
2 But this has nothing to do with whether a proposed class definition includes 3 members that suffered no injury — a deficiency in the viability of the claim itself 4 and thus a distinct issue implicating Article III standing considerations.

5 As for the “fail safe” problem, Plaintiffs ignore all of the cases cited by 6 Defendants. See Brazil v. Dell Inc., 585 F.Supp.2d 1158 (N.D. Cal. 2008); Dixon v.
7 Monterey Fin. Servs., Inc., No. 15-CV-03298-MMC, 2016 WL 3456680, at *4 (N.D.
8 Cal. June 24, 2016); Ruiz Torres v. Mercer Canyons Inc., 835 F.3d 1125, 1138 n.7
9 (9th Cir. 2016); Olean Wholesale Grocery Coop., Inc. v. Bumble Bee Foods LLC, 10 31 F.4th 651, at 670 n.14 (9th Cir. 2022). They offer no explanation as to why their 11 Class is not a “fail safe” definition. A court may not create a “fail safe” class that is 12 defined to include only those individuals who were injured by the allegedly unlawful 13 conduct. See Ruiz Torres v. Mercer Canyons Inc., 835 F.3d 1125, 1138 n.7 (9th Cir.
14 2016) (internal quotation marks omitted). Here, such merits determinations include 15 whether a person was under “detention or arrest” and, ultimately, not “convicted of 16 any crime”. But merits determinations are to be adjudicated at trial. Plaintiffs offer 17 nothing to refute that to gain entry to their proffered class, putative members would, 18 indeed, require a plethora of case-by-case mini-trials to determine whether each one 19 of them was actually harmed by the defendant(s). Because merits questions are 20 imbedded in the proposed class definition, it is “fail safe.”

21 Plaintiffs’ proposed subclasses are also “fail safe”—because entry to each 22 requires a determination of whether the class member has a meritorious claim—that 23 is, were they (a) maliciously prosecuted; (b) detained without reasonable suspicion 24 or arrested without probable cause; (c) searched or had their property searched 25 without a warrant or reasonable suspicion; and/or (d) had their vehicle seized within 26 the meaning of the Fourth Amendment and in the absence of a valid caretaking 27 purpose. If they have a meritorious claim, they are part of the class. If they do not, 28 they are excluded from the class, but they may still be free to pursue their own case

1 against the Defendants. That such mini-trials would cover events over the course of 2 a multi-year period, and, as pled, involve a litany of different individualized 3 interactions with many different law enforcement officers underscores that these 4 subclass definitions are inappropriate.

5 Rather than address their “fail safe” problem directly, Plaintiffs cite to 6 inapposite cases, such as Wolf v. Hewlett Packard Co., No. 15-01221-BRO, 2016
7 WL 7743692, at *9 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 1, 2016). Wolf did not concern a “fail safe” class 8 definition. Instead, the district court determined that putative class members could 9 self-report (with receipts of purchase) membership in the class. Similarly, none of 10 the cases that Plaintiffs cite for the proposition that generally striking class 11 allegations at the pleadings stage are disfavored, see Dkt. 41 at 10, require the Court 12 to keep the class components of this lawsuit in place now.

13 Next, Plaintiffs failed to sufficiently plead factual support for Rule 23’s 14 requirements. They dodge this issue entirely and offer nothing to establish 15 entitlement to class-wide relief against all of the Defendants—i.e., defendants who 16 range from the City of Beverly Hills to several individual officers of the City’s police 17 department (the Individual Defendants). Conclusory allegations do not suffice. They 18 fail to address the effect of their own allegations, where they affirmatively pleaded 19 the existence of a “class of one” claim in the FAC.

20 Plaintiffs’ attempt to distinguish Black Lives Matter Los Angeles v. City of 21 Los Angeles, 113 F.4th 1249 (9th Cir. 2024) is meritless. Plaintiffs argue the case is 22 different from their case against the City, which is about “one policy and custom at 23 issue.” Dkt. 41 at 17-18. In essence, Plaintiffs have pointed to their Monell policy 24 claim as the reason their class allegations can stand. But the Ninth Circuit rejected 25 that very argument in Black Lives Matter: “Monell is not a magic word that allows 26 a plaintiff to cast aside all the Rule 23 requirements for class certification.” 113 F.4th 27 at 1263. Plaintiffs’ related argument also proves Defendants’ point. They say, 28 without pointing to any allegations of fact in the FAC, that they “have shown how

1 common evidence can generate common answers apt to drive the resolution of the 2 litigation.” Dkt. 41 at 18. Again, Black Lives Matter is instructive, because the Ninth 3 Circuit identified that “plaintiffs cannot certify a class by merely alleging that a 4 policy applies class-wide—and that a common question thus exists—without 5 showing how common evidence can be used to prove their claims across the class 6 members.” Black Lives Matter, 113 F.4th at 1264. Plaintiffs do not (and cannot) 7 dispute that their copy and paste of Rule 23’s factors and Local Rule 23-2.2, fails to 8 constitute actual factual allegations that demonstrate how common evidence could 9 generate common answers.

10 Plaintiffs also point to two district cases, Aichele and Gonzalez-Tzita, as 11 “analogous” to theirs. Dkt. 41 at 18. But those cases did not certify a Monell policy 12 claim seeking money damages. Instead, Aichele v. City of Los Angeles, 314 F.R.D.
13 478, 496 (C.D. Cal. 2013), involved certification of an unlawful detention/false 14 arrest class, and Gonzalez-Tzita v. City of Los Angeles, 2019 WL 7790440 (C.D. Cal.
15 2019), involved a vehicle seizure class that was certified based on a settlement 16 reached between plaintiffs and the defense. Neither case is analogous to allegations 17 presented here.

18 As for the FAC’s allegations in Paragraphs 31 to 87, Plaintiffs fail to explain 19 how those allegations are specific to the named Plaintiffs’ claims or, as they have 20 argued, the “Class, Monell and Equal Protection claims.” Dkt. 41 at 18. These 21 allegations are outside the time-period pertinent here for the Class and Subclasses, 22 which begins on July 15, 2022 and purports to run through present. None of the 23 allegations in these paragraphs concern the named Plaintiffs’ incidents, the named 24 Defendants or arresting officers, or the City’s policies and procedures that Plaintiffs 25 claim are unconstitutional. These allegations, which include news stories of random 26 incidents from the 1990s and 2000s (and references to Plaintiffs’ counsel’s other 27 lawsuit against the City and different individual officers in Williams, et al., v. City 28 of Beverly Hills, et al., 2:21-cv-08698) are irrelevant clutter that should be stricken.

1 B. Plaintiffs' Request for Relief under Either Rule 23(b)(1) or (b)(2)
2 Should be Rejected.

3 Plaintiffs do not dispute that, if the FAC asserts entitlement to Rule 23(b)(1) 4 relief, that request should be stricken. As for Rule 23(b)(2) injunctive relief, 5 Plaintiffs do not dispute that such relief is unavailable in a case in which the primary 6 relief sought is money damages. Because Plaintiffs do not dispute that they seek 7 primary money damages under Rule 23(b)(3), their request for injunctive relief for 8 the class should be stricken.

9 C. Plaintiffs' Opposition Relies on Facts Not Pled in the FAC to 10 Contest Defendants' Motion to Dismiss.

11 The allegations in the FAC regarding the two putative class representative 12 Plaintiffs, Greene and Jones, lack foundational facts that are necessary to state a 13 claim for relief. (FAC ¶¶ 94-111). Recognizing their pleading deficiencies, Plaintiffs 14 pull from whole cloth many “facts” and use them in their Opposition even though 15 they are nowhere to be found in the FAC. Purported facts without a record citation 16 should be rejected and not tolerated. (See Dkt. 41 at 10-15). Attorney argument 17 cannot cure the FAC’s failure to include factual allegations and otherwise deficient 18 pleadings under Rule 8.

19 D. Plaintiffs' Official Capacity Claims Against Defendants Whittaker
20 and Romain Should Be Dismissed.

21 Plaintiffs offer no response to Defendants’ argument that the official capacity 22 claims against Defendants Whittaker and Romain are improper. Plaintiffs instead 23 assert that they only intend to plead individual capacity claims against Whittaker and 24 Romain. (See Dkt. 41 at 20). Accordingly, the claims for actions taken pursuant to 25 “official capacity” against Whittaker and Romain must be dismissed.

26 E. Plaintiffs' Individual Capacity Claim Against Defendant
27 Stainbrook Should Be Dismissed.

28 Plaintiffs’ Opposition identifies no plausible facts pled in the FAC to support

1 a claim against Defendant Stainbrook in his individual capacity. The FAC lacks 2 facts, and Plaintiffs make no argument that Stainbrook was personally involved in 3 any of the alleged detentions, arrests, charges, or court proceedings of Greene or 4 Jones. (FAC ¶¶ 88-89, 94-111). Instead, Plaintiffs include Stainbrook as a defendant 5 in his “individual capacity” through an impermissible “shotgun” style pleading, by 6 baselessly asserting that Stainbrook “set in motion a series of acts by his 7 subordinates, or knowingly refused to terminate a series of acts by his subordinates 8 that he knew or reasonably should have known would cause the subordinates to 9 deprive Black Americans of their rights under law.” (FAC ¶ 88). Because conclusory 10 allegations cannot support a claim against Stainbrook in his individual capacity, this 11 claim should be dismissed. See Raymond v. Martin, No. 1:18-cv-00307-DAD-JLT, 12 2021 WL 1222950, at * 4 (E.D. Cal. Mar. 31, 2021) (plaintiff failed to adequately 13 allege claim against police chief in his individual capacity by alleging “merely 14 conclusory recitations of the element of the claims”).

15 F. Plaintiffs Fail to Plead a Plausible Malicious Prosecution Claim.

16 Plaintiffs’ Opposition offers no argument specific to Plaintiff Jones’ claim for 17 Malicious Prosecution, only stating that the allegations are sufficient. (See Dkt. 41 18 at 21). But Plaintiffs concede that they must allege plausible facts that Defendants 19 prosecuted them with malice and without probable cause, and that they did so to 20 deny them equal protection or another specific constitutional right in order to plead 21 a cognizable claim for malicious prosecution. Awabdy v. City of Adelanto, 368 F.3d 22 1063, 1066 (9th Cir. 2004). The FAC fails to sufficiently plead these facts for Jones, 23 and it is silent on Greene because he was never prosecuted. (FAC ¶¶ 100, 109, 111, 24 117-133). Plaintiffs fail to cite any authority that holds that a plaintiff may maintain 25 a malicious prosecution claim without having ever been charged with a crime.
26 Therefore, Plaintiffs’ claims for malicious prosecution should be dismissed.

1 G. Plaintiffs' Claims Against Individual Defendants Who Had No
2 Personal Involvement in The Alleged Unreasonable Searches and 3 Seizures Must Be Dismissed.

4 Plaintiffs concede that Greene makes no plausible claims against Defendants 5 Whittaker and Romain. (See Dkt. 41 at 22). Accordingly, Greene's claims against 6 them for unreasonable search and unreasonable seizure (or any other claim) must be 7 dismissed.

8 Both Plaintiffs' allegations against Stainbrook regarding his personal 9 involvement in their alleged unreasonable searches and seizures are conclusory and 10 insufficiently pleaded. Personal involvement is required in a Section 1983 claim 11 against a defendant in his individual capacity. Reynaga Hernandez v. Skinner, 969 12 F.3d 930, 941-42 (9th Cir. 2020). The FAC does not allege Stainbrook was 13 personally involved in Greene's and Jones' alleged incidents, which is fatal. See 14 Payne, et al. v. City of Los Angeles, et al., No. 2:17-CV-4370424, 2023 WL
15 4370424, at *4 (C.D. Cal. Jul. 3, 2023) (claim of unreasonable search and seizure 16 against police chief dismissed where plaintiffs failed to set forth allegations or 17 evidence showing police chief's personal involvement). Therefore, Stainbrook 18 should be dismissed from both Plaintiffs' unreasonable search and seizure claims.

19 H. Plaintiffs' Monell Claim Should Be Dismissed.

20 Monell requires Plaintiffs to plead and provide sufficient facts showing they 21 were subject to a constitutional violation that (1) resulted from a governmental 22 policy or a longstanding practice or custom; (2) the individual defendant who 23 committed the constitutional violation was an official with final policy-making 24 authority; or (3) an official with final policy-making authority ratified the 25 unconstitutional act. See Gillette v. Delmore, 979 F.2d 1342, 1346-47 (9th Cir.
26 1992). Monell v. Dep't of Soc. Servs. of Cty. of New York, 436 U.S. 658, 694 (1978); 27 see also Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009). Plaintiffs offer only rumors and 28 unsupported conclusions.

1 i. Discriminatory Policy, Widespread Practice or Custom.

2 A Monell claim requires allegations of a governmental policy or longstanding 3 practice or custom, or that the individual who committed the constitutional violation 4 was an official with final policy-making authority. Ulrich v. Cty. and Cnty. of San 5 Francisco, 308 F.3d 968, 985 (9th Cir. 2002). Plaintiffs’ recitations of the boilerplate
6 and conclusory allegations in the FAC do not withstand dismissal. Plaintiffs allege 7 no plausible facts to support that Stainbrook, or any other alleged final policy-maker, 8 issued policies, written or otherwise, or were aware of the facts of any of the arrests 9 and/or detentions by any individual officers. Instead, Plaintiffs’ allegations of a 10 “longstanding practice and custom of racially profiling Black Americans” are 11 boilerplate and conclusory. (FAC ¶¶ 31-87, 171). Plaintiffs have failed to plead a 12 history of prior similar incidents which are “of sufficient duration, frequency, and 13 consistency that the conduct had become a traditional method of carrying out policy” 14 as required. Moreover, their reference to a related matter (i.e., the Williams case)— 15 a pending case in which no findings have been made against Defendants—cannot 16 satisfy this element of their policy claim. See Jenkins v. City of Vallejo, No. 2:19-17 cv-01896-TLN-DB, 2023 WL 4534144, at * 2 (E.D. Cal. Jul. 13, 2023) (quoting 18 Trevino, 99 F.3d at 918). At the pleading stage, the court focuses on the similarity 19 between the “factually pertinent” aspects of the prior incidents.” Id. at *3 (citing 20 McCoy v. Cty. of Vallejo, No. 2:19-cv-01191-JAM-CKD, 2020 WL 374356, at *4 21 (E.D. Cal. Jan. 23, 2020). No such facts exist here.

22 ii. Plaintiffs’ Allegations about the Elements of Deliberate 23 Indifference, Moving Force, and Failure to Train are 24 Conclusory and Thus Insufficient to Support Their *Monell
25 Claim.

26 Rather than allege sufficient facts to support each required element of a 27 Monell claim, Plaintiffs repeat the conclusory allegations from the FAC to try to 28

1 avoid dismissal. (FAC ¶¶ 165-190).

2 For example, Plaintiffs’ allegation that the City was “deliberately indifferent,” 3 and that officials were aware of the alleged constitutional violations but failed to act, 4 are hollow conclusions that do not meet Twombly-Iqbal’s pleading standards.
5 Moreover, they fail to articulate a causal link between the alleged custom and 6 practice and Plaintiffs’ alleged constitutional claims. (FAC ¶¶ 178, 180-184).
7 Similarly, Plaintiffs’ allegations that the City’s “customs or widespread practices” 8 were the “moving force” behind the alleged constitutional deprivations is nothing 9 but a conclusory and formulaic recitation of legal terms of art and elements of the 10 cause of action, lacking necessary detail. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (internal citations 11 omitted). Likewise, Plaintiffs’ allegations that their claimed constitutional violations 12 were caused by a “failure to train” are also conclusory and boilerplate. (FAC ¶ 185).
13 Because their policy claims lack necessary authorizing facts, Plaintiffs’ Monell 14 claim should be dismissed.

15 I. Plaintiffs’ Equal Protection Claim Should Be Dismissed.

16 Plaintiffs’ equal protection claim is improperly alleged against the City and is 17 duplicative of their Monell claim. It is based on conclusory and boilerplate 18 allegations regarding the necessary elements of discriminatory intent and 19 discriminatory effect. See Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570 (2007); see also Iqbal, 556 U.S.
20 at 678.

21 In their Opposition, Plaintiffs fail to address the issue. They cite no specific 22 facts showing a discriminatory purpose, intent, or discriminatory effect. As a result, 23 Plaintiffs’ equal protection claim is speculative and ignores the existence of equally 24 available and legally permissible justifications for the BHPD officers’ alleged 25 conduct. (FAC ¶¶ 191-209); see also Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 681-682. Soaking wet, 26 Plaintiffs’ equal protection allegations are merely legal buzzwords and recitations of 27 prima facie elements. See Gay v. Waiters’ & Dairy Lunchmen’s Union, Local No.
28 30, 694 F.2d 531, 552 (9th Cir. 1982). Lastly, Plaintiffs fail to explain how they have

1 plausibly alleged their alternative “class of one” theory. Their entire case relies on 2 the theory of discriminatory intent against Plaintiffs based on their race, but the only 3 authorizing “facts” offered to state a claim are pure conclusions of law and 4 speculative averments. See Village of Willowbrook v. Olech, 528 U.S. 562, 564-565
5 (2000). Accordingly, Plaintiffs’ equal protection claim should be dismissed.

6 J. Plaintiff Greene’s State Law Claims Must Be Dismissed for Failure
7 to Comply with California’s Government Torts Claims Act.

8 Plaintiffs’ only argument against dismissal of Plaintiff Greene’s FAC state-9 law claims for alleged violations of the Bane Act and False Arrest/Imprisonment is 10 to assert a “fact” regarding alleged lack of notice and waiver, which is not contained 11 in the FAC, and to which no citation has been offered. (FAC ¶¶ 210-227; see also 12 Dkt. 41 at 32). These unsupported “facts” offered in Plaintiffs’ Opposition cannot 13 serve as a basis to state a claim.

14 Plaintiffs have failed to comply with Government Code section 905, 15 which provides that Plaintiffs must plead compliance with the Code when alleging 16 state law claims. Cal. Gov. Code, § 910 et seq.; see also Snipes v. City of Bakersfield, 17 145 Cal.App.3d 861, 865 (1983). Further, Greene’s claim fails to state the dates of 18 the alleged incidents (just as Plaintiffs have failed to allege the same in Plaintiffs’ 19 FAC), resulting in the proper denial of his claim for that and other reasons. (See Dkt.
20 36-1, Exhibits 1 and 2). Because Plaintiff Greene failed to comply with the 21 Government Code, or allege that he did so, his state law claims must be dismissed.

22 K. Plaintiff Greene’s Claims Pursuant to the Bane Act and for False 23 Arrest/False Imprisonment Must Be Dismissed.

24 Plaintiffs’ Bane Act and false arrest/imprisonment claims fail to state a claim.
25 First, Greene fails to state sufficient facts to support the specific intent element of a 26 Bane Act claim. Next, the FAC fails to identify with any specificity the individual 27 officers who allegedly violated Greene’s constitutional rights, or what each officer 28 allegedly did in bringing about Greene’s alleged harm. See Rodriguez v. Cnty. of Los

1 Angeles, 891 F.3d 776, 799 (9th Cir. 2018); see also FAC ¶¶ 210-220. Greene also 2 fails to allege plausible facts to support the state law claims that he was arrested or 3 detained without legal authority or lawful privilege. (See FAC ¶¶ 103, 111). Because 4 Greene's allegations instead provide facts that support probable cause, his state law 5 claims cannot survive since the existence of probable cause to arrest bars an action 6 by an arrestee against a police officer. Briley v. Cty. of Hermosa Beach, No. CV 05-7 8127AG(SHx), 2008 WL 4443894, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 29, 2008); see also Roberts
8 v. Cty. of Los Angeles, 109 Cal. App. 3d 625, 629 (1980); see also Briley, No. CV
9 05-8127AG(SHx), 2008 WL 4443894, at *5 (probable cause under California law 10 to arrest defeats claim of false arrest). Because Greene failed to state sufficient facts 11 to support the specific intent element of a Bane Act claim or plausible facts to 12 support his false arrest and false imprisonment claims, they must be dismissed.

13 L. Plaintiffs' Request for injunctive Relief Should Be Stricken or 14 Dismissed.

15 Plaintiffs fail to adequately address the argument that they have no standing 16 to seek equitable relief. See Dkt. 41 at 33; see also Summers v. Earth Island Inst., 17 555 U.S. 488, 493 (2009). Plaintiffs also fail to address the argument that past 18 exposure to illegal conduct does not in itself show a present case or controversy 19 regarding injunctive relief, City of Los Angeles v. Lyons, 461 U.S. 95, 102 (1983) 20 (internal quotation and citation omitted). Accordingly, Plaintiffs' request for 21 injunctive relief should be dismissed.

22 M. Leave to File a Second Amended Complaint Should Be Denied.

23 Although Plaintiffs' request leave to amend, they fail to explain how an 24 amendment would cure the deficiencies in their FAC. (See Dkt. 41 at 33-34). The 25 deficiencies in the FAC are systemic, and not based on only inadequacy that could 26 be easily cured. Therefore, Plaintiffs' request for this alternative relief is improper 27 and should be denied. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 7(b)(1); see also Long v. Satz, 181 F.3d 28 1275, 1279 (11th Cir. 1999) (citing Wisdom v. First Midwest Bank, 167 F.3d 402, 409 (8th Cir. 1999); see also Foman v. Davis, 371 U.S. 178, 182 (1962); see also Associated Gen. Contractors of Calif. v. Calif. State Council of Carpenters, 459 U.S. 519, 526 (1983).

3. CONCLUSION

Defendants request that this Court grant their Motion to Dismiss and/or Strike Plaintiffs' First Amended Complaint in its entirety, and for any other relief this Court deems appropriate.
