STATUTES

42 U.S.C. § 12205.....	1
------------------------	---

1 The U.S. Congress enacted the fee shifting provisions under the ADA, 42
2 U.S.C. § 12205 “to ensure that nonaffluent plaintiffs would have ‘effective access’ 3 to the Nation’s courts to enforce” the ADA. K.M. ex rel. Bright v. Tustin Unified 4 Sch. Dist., 78 F. Supp. 3d 1289, 1299-1300 (C.D. Cal. 2015). After over three years
5 of vigorous litigation, thanks to the unwavering support of this Court (overseeing 6 more than 17 settlement conferences) and the diligence and skill of Plaintiffs’ 7 counsel, the indigent members of the disability subclass have achieved that access.

8 Without citation to record evidence, Defendants’ Opposition seeks to rewrite 9 history, incorrectly claiming that Plaintiffs’ counsel put their own interest ahead of 10 the disability sub-class, sought to enrich themselves, and refused to help effectuate 11 changes. As demonstrated below and in the declarations filed in support and in 12 reply, these allegations are inaccurate. They also fail to assist this Court in deciding 13 this fee motion. The only issues before the Court are whether the claimed fees and 14 costs are reasonable. They unquestionably are.

15 The unrebutted evidence shows that Defendants knew in 2016 that the Jail 16 was out of compliance with the ADA and that no other law firms had the requisite 17 experience or will to prosecute Plaintiffs’ ADA claim against the San Diego jail 18 system. Defendants concede that Plaintiffs’ counsel are experts in jail ADA 19 litigation and do not identify any other firm that would have litigated this action.

20 Defendants’ contention that Plaintiffs’ counsel’s requested rates should be 21 reduced because this is a “simple” ADA case is belied by testimony from prominent 22 California disability access lawyers as well as the record in this case. This criticism 23 that the underlying case is “not complex” is a routine playbook employed by 24 Defendants’ fees expert, John O’Connor, which has been soundly rejected by 25 numerous courts. Many federal and state courts in California have strongly 26 discredited Mr. O’Connor’s hourly rates testimony, finding his opinion to have no 27 support in the record. Defendants’ proposed hourly rates are also internally 28 inconsistent and based off entirely inapposite single-issue physical access ADA

1 cases by one firm that has been repeatedly sanctioned.

2 Defendants' contentions about Plaintiffs' counsel's staffing and litigation 3 strategy are without merit. Simultaneously advancing litigation and settlement was 4 necessary for Plaintiffs to obtain the remedies secured. Defendants' inaccurate 5 complaints about unreasonable or excessive hours, even if true, total less than 1.2% 6 of the claimed amount, and are already addressed by discrete billing judgment 7 reductions as well as the 5% across-the-board cut included in Plaintiffs' fees motion 8 that amount to over 13% of the lodestar value of the total time spent on the merits.

9 I. Plaintiffs' Counsel's Requested Rates Are Appropriate

10 A. Defendants' Claim that this Case Is Not Complex Is Meritless

11 Defendants' only evidence that this "is not a complex case" (Opp. at 4) is the 12 declaration of their fees expert, John O'Connor, who wrongly claims that 13 Defendants "did not oppose class treatment" (see oppositions to provisional class 14 certification at Dkts. 153, 311) and that this ADA case was not as complex as Bloom
15 v. City of San Diego. O'Connor Decl. ¶¶ 22-24. Mr. O'Connor has made the same 16 unsupported arguments that he makes here in many cases, which have been rejected 17 by numerous courts. Pearl Reply Decl. ¶¶ 11-15 & Ex. A; see, e.g., Perfect 10 v.
18 Giganeews, 2015 WL 1746484, at *16-20 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 24, 2017), aff'd 847 F.3d 19 657 (9th Cir. 2015). At least one court has discredited Mr. O'Connor's opinion on 20 rates in an ADA action, finding that "[h]e states that he has litigated 21 (unsuccessfully) one ADA case in 2000," and explaining that his "own litigation 22 career and experience with attorneys' fees ... focuses primarily on non-disability, 23 non-civil rights actions[.]" Johnson v. Baird Lands, Inc., 2020 WL 3833278, at *3 24 (N.D. Cal. July 8, 2020) (concluding that "Mr. O'Connor's declaration is not helpful 25 here."). Prominent disability access attorneys testify that this matter is complex, 26 including the attorney whose firm litigated Bloom. Parks Reply Decl. ¶¶ 2-4; see 27 also Grunfeld Decl. ¶¶ 40-105, 110-114; Mendelson Reply Decl. ¶¶ 5-11; Center 28 Reply Decl. ¶¶ 3-5.

B. Plaintiffs' Requested Rates Are Within the San Diego Market

Defendants incorrectly contend “[t]he [d]eclarations submitted in this case say nothing regarding the rates in the ‘prevailing market’—i.e., the billing rates at San Diego County law firms.” Opp. at 12. Plaintiffs provided ample evidence showing that the requested rates are consistent with prevailing rates in the San Diego market for work of similar complexity performed by counsel of similar skill, experience, and reputation, including rates awarded in numerous San Diego cases. Pearl Decl. ¶¶ 24, 33, 36; Young Decl. ¶¶ 10, 19; see also Pearl Reply Decl. ¶¶ 35-52.

Mr. O’Connor proposes that Plaintiffs’ counsel’s hourly rates be pegged to run-of-the-mill ADA access cases. O’Connor Decl. ¶¶ 22-35, 44-51. As explained above, his argument that this case was simple cannot be squared with the record, and this type of criticism is part of his playbook that courts have strongly rejected. See Pearl Reply Decl. ¶¶ 11-15, 37-48. Mr. O’Connor’s only source of what he calls the applicable ADA access fees scale is his comparison to a single firm, Potter Handy LLP. O’Connor Decl. ¶¶ 45, 47, 49-50. The comparison to Potter Handy, a firm that has been repeatedly sanctioned, and that litigates small ADA cases on behalf of single individuals challenging only one or a handful of barriers at local establishments, is wholly inapposite. See Pearl Reply Decl. ¶¶ 33-47; Center Reply Decl. ¶ 5 (“[T]his area of practice is not comparable to litigating systemic challenges under Title II of the ADA and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act on a class-wide basis against large, complex, multi-facility systems of detention or incarceration”); Mendelson Reply Decl. ¶¶ 9-10 (“Bringing a prison or jail system into compliance with the ADA, Rehabilitation Act and related state law is entirely different from the kind of litigation undertaken by the law firm Potter Handy.”).

Mr. O’Connor also relies on survey data from the National Association of Legal Fee Analysis (“NALFA”), an organization of which Mr. O’Connor is one of only four members, in support of his proposed rates. O’Connor Decl. ¶¶ 52-59 & Ex C; see Pearl Reply Decl. ¶49. However, this data in no way undermines

1 Plaintiffs’ requested rates because, among other things, it improperly excludes rates 2 charged by large law firms for complex civil litigation, and his assignment of 3 percentiles to specific timekeepers appears to be plucked out of thin air. Pearl Reply 4 Decl. ¶¶ 49-50, 60; see also id. ¶¶ 51-52 (similarly analyzing Real Rate Report).

5 Defendants also incorrectly assert that “[t]he only legitimate purpose of DLA 6 Piper, a local firm, was to send local attorneys and law clerks to interview 7 Incarcerated Persons.” Opp. at 6. DLA Piper attorneys assisted with many case 8 responsibilities, including assisting with FRCP Rule 30(b)(6) depositions, drafting 9 declarations, and providing advice on litigation decisions (related to both the ADA 10 claim and other claims) based upon DLA Piper’s many years litigating class actions 11 and its deep knowledge of the Southern District of California local rules and 12 practices. Young Reply Decl. ¶¶ 2-5. Mr. O’Connor contends that “DLA has shown 13 no expertise in the particular field” (O’Connor Decl. ¶ 60), neglecting to consider 14 DLA Piper’s accolades as one of the premier class action practices in the nation as 15 well as its lengthy experience litigating class claims against the Nebraska prison 16 system. Young Decl. ¶ 6; Young Reply Decl. ¶ 2; see Pearl Reply Decl. ¶ 61 (pro 17 bono counsel awarded full market rates).

18 C. RBGG and Fischer Are Entitled to Their Bay Area Rates

19 To be entitled to recover San Francisco rates, Plaintiffs must show that 20 competent counsel in San Diego were unavailable. Prison Legal News v. Ryan, 21 2023 WL 9190364, at *1 (9th Cir. Mar. 21, 2023) (awarding RBGG its Bay Area 22 rates for work in Arizona); Parsons v. Ryan, 949 F.3d 443, 466 (9th Cir. 2020); 23 Gates v. Deukmejian, 987 F.2d 1392, 1405 (9th Cir. 1992).

24 Mr. O’Connor incorrectly opines that Plaintiffs did not submit sufficient 25 evidence to support their claims of unavailability of local counsel. O’Connor Decl.
26 ¶ 43. However, Plaintiffs’ Counsel submitted three declarations with their Motion 27 that specifically addressed this issue, and an additional declaration from the 28 Executive Director of the Prison Law Office with this Reply. Young Decl. ¶ 7;

1 Grunfeld Decl. ¶ 42; Pearl Decl. ¶ 17; see also Mendelson Reply Decl. ¶¶ 13-14.

2 Defendants agree that “Ms. Grunfeld and Mr. Fischer are experts in litigation 3 against prisons and jails throughout California.” Opp. at 11. Yet Defendants’ 4 Opposition and Mr. O’Connor’s declaration are both silent as to the hourly rates that 5 should apply if the Court determines that home office rates are appropriate for 6 RBGG and Mr. Fischer. Plaintiffs’ Motion provides substantial evidence that their 7 requested 2025 rates are within the range of rates for attorneys in the San Francisco
8 Bay Area of comparable skill, qualifications, reputation, and experience paid hourly 9 in non-contingent cases, and that Courts routinely award their rates in comparable 10 cases litigated within and outside the Bay Area. Mot. at 15-17; see Pearl Reply 11 Decl. ¶¶ 33-34. Neither Defendants nor Mr. O’Connor disagrees that current 2025
12 rates should be awarded. See generally Opp. and O’Connor Decl.

13 D. Defendants’ Proposed Rates Are Internally Inconsistent, Fail to 14 Account for Experience, and Conflict with Past Court Awards

15 Mr. O’Connor opines that “Mr. Fischer has great experience in various case 16 issues,” that “Ms. Grunfeld is obviously experienced in civil rights litigation,” and 17 that Mr. Rosen is “skilled ... at civil rights litigation.” O’Connor Decl. ¶¶ 55-56.
18 But Defendants’ proposed rates fail to account for the relative amount of experience 19 of each. Defendants propose that Ms. Grunfeld and Mr. Fischer receive the same 20 rate (O’Connor Decl. ¶ 55) despite the fact that Ms. Grunfeld has approximately 21 twice as much experience as Mr. Fischer. See Grunfeld Decl., Ex. A; Fischer Decl., 22 Ex. A. Defendants propose Mr. Rosen receive a rate lower than Ms. Grunfeld and 23 Mr. Fischer’s rate (O’Connor Decl. ¶¶ 55-56) despite the fact that Mr. Rosen has 24 significantly more experience than both of them. See Grunfeld Decl., Ex. B; see 25 also Rosen Reply Decl. ¶¶ 4-22. Defendants propose Mr. Young receive a rate 26 lower than a sixth-year RBGG associate (O’Connor Decl. ¶¶ 58, 60) despite the fact 27 that Mr. Young has over thirty years of experience, primarily in class action 28 litigation. See Young Decl. ¶ 6 & Ex. A. Defendants propose that all DLA

1 associates receive the same rates regardless of experience. O'Connor Decl. ¶ 60.
2 These proposals are internally inconsistent, and contrary to rates that have been 3 awarded to Plaintiffs' counsel by numerous courts. Pearl Reply Decl. ¶¶ 53-62.

4 II. Plaintiffs' Counsel's Hours Were Necessary for the Relief Obtained

5 After discrete billing judgment reductions of approximately 9% to Plaintiffs' 6 claimed merits time, Plaintiffs applied an additional 5% across-the-board reduction 7 to further account for any time that might possibly be considered duplicative, 8 administrative, excessive, or otherwise incorrectly included. Mot. at 19-20; 9 Swearingen Decl. ¶ 9; c.f. Cruz ex rel. Cruz v. Alhambra Sch. Dist., 601 F. Supp. 2d 10 1183, 1193 (C.D. Cal. 2009) (applying 5% reduction to account for hours that "are 11 at least somewhat excessive"). In total, Plaintiffs' counsel made billing judgments 12 that have reduced the merits work lodestar by $319,767.38, a 14% reduction.
13 Mot. at 20. Defendants fail to take any of these reductions into account. Pearl 14 Reply Decl. ¶ 65. Defendants' complaints about excessive time and overstaffing are 15 meritless; however, even if they were all valid, such excess hours are already 16 accounted for in Plaintiffs' unacknowledged reductions. Id. ¶¶ 69-93.

17 A. Defendants Rejected an ENE on All ADA Issues Until After 18 Plaintiffs Filed Their Motion for Preliminary Injunction

19 Defendants' Opposition incorrectly asserts that Plaintiffs' refused 20 Defendants' settlement overtures "until they had billed for and filed the renewed 21 injunction request in April of 2023." Opp. at 8; see also O'Connor Decl. ¶¶ 71, 79, 22 81 (recommending a 40% discount to claimed hours in this "stage" because 23 Plaintiffs did not "immediately" settle). In fact, in December 2022, Defendants 24 rejected Plaintiffs' proposal to have an ENE as to the entirety of Plaintiffs' ADA 25 claim (physical barriers and access to services/programs at all facilities), and instead 26 proposed an ENE only as to physical barriers at only one of the seven jail facilities.
27 Swearingen Reply Decl. ¶ 16. Three weeks prior to filing Plaintiffs' motion for 28 preliminary injunction as to ADA issues, Defendants rejected Plaintiffs' offer to 1 have an ENE “with Court oversight of the process” in lieu of litigating the motion.

2 Id. at ¶ 19. Defendants would only agree to discuss physical barriers at two jail 3 facilities, and demanded that the parties’ experts and attorneys try to resolve the 4 issues first, without Court oversight. Id. at ¶¶ 20-21. After the motion was filed, the 5 parties’ experts and their attorneys met but were unable to resolve Plaintiffs’ ADA 6 claim without further assistance by the Court. Id. at ¶ 25. Over the course of the 7 next year and a half, the parties participated in at least seventeen Court-supervised 8 settlement conferences. Id. As the record shows, Court supervision of the process 9 was necessary to settle the entirety of Plaintiffs’ ADA claim. Cf. Moreno v. City of 10 Sacramento, 534 F. 3d 1106, 1112 (9th Cir. 2008) (explaining that “lawyers are not 11 likely to spend unnecessary time on contingency fee cases in the hope of inflating 12 their fees. The payoff is too uncertain.”); Nat’l Fed’n of Blind of California v. Uber 13 Techs., Inc., 2016 WL 10920461, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 6, 2016) (finding RBGG’s 14 hours reasonable where they simultaneously pursued litigation and settlement).

15 B. Plaintiffs Prevailed on Discovery Disputes that Defendants Claim
16 Were Unsuccessful

17 Defendants suggest that there was no need for all the discovery served by 18 Plaintiffs (Opp. at 14); however, they fail to identify a single unnecessary ADA
19 discovery request. In fact, Plaintiffs obtained the majority of the discovery sought 20 in relation to their ADA claim. Swearingen Reply Decl. ¶ 2. The Court even 21 permitted ADA discovery requested on an expedited basis. Id.; see also id. ¶ 13 22 (establishing that Plaintiffs’ two motions for expedited discovery were not “almost 23 identical” as alleged in the Opposition at 7). The Court granted ADA-related 24 discovery requests in other contested discovery motions as well. Id. ¶ 2.

25 Defendants contend that Plaintiffs “were denied their overbroad original ask” 26 at “[e]very [ADA-related] informal discovery conference.” Opp. at 14. This is 27 incorrect. For example, over Defendants’ objections, the Court granted Plaintiffs’ 28 requests to have their ADA expert speak with employees and incarcerated people

1 during inspections, and to receive floor plans and a roster of incarcerated persons 2 with notes regarding their “type of disability.” Swearingen Reply Decl. ¶ 3.

3 Defendants incorrectly argue that “[t]he Court denied [Plaintiffs’ Motion to 4 Compel (Dkt. 489-1)] as to every disability-related request except No. 167, and 5 narrowed it significantly to nothing more than a participation log and list of 6 programs.” Opp. at 16. Plaintiffs’ discovery motion was directed at over 50 7 individual Requests for Production (“RFPs”); however, only three of those 50 8 requests related to ADA issues. Swearingen Reply Decl. ¶ 4. For two of those three 9 RFPs, the Court ordered Defendants to produce some responsive documents because 10 Defendants had refused to produce any responsive documents. Id. The Court 11 denied further discovery on those three requests because Defendants’ counsel 12 represented that key responsive documents had already been produced. Id.
13 Mr. O’Connor proposes a 40% cut to a significant portion of Plaintiffs’ lodestar in 14 part because “discovery billings are particularly excessive, given the expansive 15 discovery sought that was ultimately narrowed by the Court.” O’Connor Decl. ¶ 79.
16 However, Plaintiffs’ counsel claimed no time in the instant fee motion for work on 17 that discovery motion or attending the hearing. Swearingen Reply Decl. ¶ 4.

18 C. Plaintiffs’ Staffing and Conferencing Time Was Reasonable

19 Defendants charge Plaintiffs’ counsel with overstaffing, and suggest that the 20 defense of this case was handled by two lawyers. Opp. at 4, 5-6, 17-18. In fact, 21 Plaintiffs have interacted with at least 25 lawyers for Defendants and/or their 22 medical providers, and the number of defense attorneys and representatives at 23 settlement conferences and jail inspections was typically the same (if not more) than 24 the number from Plaintiffs’ side. Swearingen Reply Decl. ¶¶ 9-11. In any event, 25 multiple attorneys conferencing, attending important case events, and working 26 together on significant projects is the norm in complex cases like this one and is 27 commonly paid for by fee paying clients. Pearl Reply Decl. ¶¶ 81-82; see also 28 Democratic Party of Washington State v. Reed, 388 F.3d 1281, 1286 (9th Cir. 2004)

1 (“[P]articipation of more than one attorney does not necessarily amount to 2 unnecessary duplication of effort”). Luna v. FCA US LLC, 2020 WL 491462 (C.D.
3 Cal. Jan. 30, 2020) is inapposite; there, twelve time keepers claimed “egregious 4 amounts of time” for work adapting “boilerplate pleadings and discovery” in a 5 straightforward case about a defective vehicle purchase. Id. at *4.

6 Defendants criticize Plaintiffs’ counsel’s staffing at three of the five expedited 7 Rule 30(b)(6) depositions that Plaintiffs conducted. Opp. at 22. While the number 8 of attorneys present was proper under the circumstances, the 29 hours of time for 9 two additional attorneys amounts to 1.08% of the total claimed merits time—and is 10 subsumed under billing reductions already made. Grunfeld Reply Decl. ¶¶ 8-10.

11 D. Plaintiffs’ Claimed Hours Are Neither Excessive Nor Unnecessary

12 Defendants complain about fees related to Plaintiffs’ attempt to depose 13 Sheriff Martinez and for work on the “Seventh Claim for Overincarceration of 14 Disabled People.” Opp. at 18, 20. Plaintiffs inadvertently claimed 0.5 hours for 15 work on Sheriff Martinez’ deposition and 1.1 hours on Plaintiffs’ Seventh Claim, 16 totaling less than six one-hundredths of one percent (0.059%) of claimed time, much 17 less than the billing reduction already taken. Swearingen Reply Decl. ¶¶ 6-7.
18 Defendants criticize Plaintiffs’ counsel for attending a hearing before Judge Leshner 19 (Opp. at 14-15), but the instant fee motion claimed no time for that hearing. Id. ¶ 5.
20 Mr. O’Connor proposes a 20% reduction for “Stage 1” work that “relates to matters 21 other than ADA issues[,]” O’Connor Decl. ¶ 70; however, he fails to identify a 22 single non-ADA entry and Plaintiffs are unaware of any. Swearingen Reply Decl.
23 ¶ 8. Similarly, Defendants fail to identify any specific billing entries that they 24 contend are “vague.” Opp. at 18-19.

25 III. Plaintiffs’ Fees-for-Fees Work Is Compensable and Appropriate

26 Plaintiffs adequately documented the time incurred on this fee application.
27 Mot. at 22-24. Defendants’ Opposition does not challenge Plaintiffs’ claimed fees-28 for-fees time. Mr. O’Connor criticizes the number of timekeepers who worked on

1 the fee application and describes 41.6 hours for communications among counsel and 2 with Plaintiffs' fees expert as "excessive." O'Connor Decl. ¶ 84. Among other 3 errors, he does not take into account Plaintiffs' 24.9% billing judgment reductions to 4 the fees-for-fees lodestar. See Mot. at 23-24. Plaintiffs' counsel efficiently used 5 attorneys in preparing the fees application, and communication was necessary given 6 the need to coordinate the presentation of three firms' time entries and seven 7 supporting declarations. Swearingen Reply Decl. ¶ 12; Pearl Reply Decl. ¶¶ 88-93; 8 see also Nadarajah v. Holder, 569 F.3d 906, 924-25 (9th Cir. 2009).

9 IV. Plaintiffs' Claimed Costs are Compensable and Appropriate

10 Defendants do not contest Plaintiffs' ADA expert costs. Opp. at 13-14. The 11 only cost entries identified by Defendants as excessive are 4:00 a.m. Town Car rides 12 (Opp. at 21), which were necessary to ensure Plaintiffs' counsel's on-time airport
13 departure to arrive at settlement conferences in San Diego by 9:00 a.m. Grunfeld 14 Reply Decl. ¶¶ 2-5. Defendants offer no support for their proposed 25 to 50% cut to 15 Plaintiffs' other non-expert costs (Opp. at 22), and the Court should reject it.
16 Plaintiffs inadvertently included $4,752.50 in costs that should not be included in 17 the cost award. Grunfeld Reply Decl. ¶¶ 6-7.

18 V. Plaintiffs Will Supplement Their Merits and Fees Claim at a Later Time

19 Plaintiffs intend to file a supplemental application for merits and fees work 20 since January 20, 2025 after the Court issues its orders on the joint motion for final 21 approval of the ADA Settlement Agreement and this motion. Swearingen Reply 22 Decl. ¶¶ 26-29. Should the Court request, Plaintiffs will do so sooner. Id.

23 CONCLUSION

24 The Court should reject Defendants' objections and award Plaintiffs 25 $2,111,562.63 for merits work, $158,002.58 for fees work, and $471,716.85 in costs 26 (the original cost award request minus $4,752.50, as discussed in Section IV, supra) 27 through January 20, 2025.
