INJUNCTIVE RELIEF SOUGHT

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

INTERVENOR'S AMENDED COMPLAINT IN INTERVENTION

Intervenor Dena Zechella, pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 15(a), files this Amended Complaint in intervention, as authorized by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a)(1) and 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(f)(1), and alleges:

1. Intervenor Dena Zechella is a female who lives and resides in Hillsborough County, Florida, and was, at all material times, an employee of and employed by Defendant Outback Steakhouse, Inc.

2. As a result of Defendant's acts against Intervenor Zechella, Plaintiff, the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), sued Defendant for violating the Equal Pay Act, 29 U.S.C. §§ 206(d)(1) and 215(a)(2), and Title VII, 42 U.S.C. §§ 2000e-2(a) and 2000e-3(a). A true and correct copy of the Complaint is attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

3. Defendant, the Outback Steakhouse, Inc., is a Florida corporation, and an "employer," as that term is defined by 29 U.S.C. § 203(d) and 42 U.S.C. §§ 2000e(b), (g), and (h).

4. Intervenor Zechella realleges paragraphs 1-15 of the Complaint attached hereto.

5. All conditions precedent to the maintenance of this action have occurred.

COUNT I

6. Intervenor Zechella realleges paragraphs 1-5.

7. By discriminating against Intervenor Zechella in the terms and conditions of her employment and pay, Defendant's acts violated 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-2(a).

8. Defendant's acts against Intervenor in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-2(a) were done with malice and reckless indifference to Intervenor's protected rights.

9. As a result of Defendant's actions, Intervenor Zechella has suffered mental anguish, loss of capacity for the enjoyment of life, loss of earnings, loss of ability to earn money, and other monetary damages. The losses and expenses are permanent and continuing and Intervenor Zechella will suffer the losses in the future.

WHEREFORE, Intervenor Zechella demands judgment for damages, punitive damages, interest, costs, attorneys' fees, and back pay, and requests injunctive relief, including, but not limited to, front pay, reinstatement of employment and employment benefits, and enjoinder of Defendant from any further prohibited discrimination against Intervenor Zechella, and for all other relief, legal and equitable, that this Court deems appropriate, and Intervenor further respectfully requests a trial by jury of all issues so triable.

COUNT II

10. Intervenor realleges paragraphs 1-5.

11. After Steve Wilson was hired and Defendant systematically began giving Intervenor's job duties and responsibilities to him, Intervenor Zechella discussed with her supervisor, Jamie Butler, that she was being discriminated against on the basis of her gender and that males were being favored in the terms and conditions of employment.

12. Intervenor Zechella also discussed with Defendant's in-house counsel her concerns with the discrimination against her. The in-house counsel advised her to speak with Chris Sullivan, Outback's Chief Executive Officer. Intervenor Zechella, on the advice of Defendant's in-house counsel, and following proper channels, scheduled an appointment with Mr. Sullivan.

13. In March 1998, Intervenor Zechella met with Mr. Sullivan to discuss her concerns. Mr. Sullivan said he would "look into" her "complaint" and "get back with" Intervenor.

14. Mr. Sullivan never again spoke to Intervenor. Instead, when Intervenor returned from a one week vacation on April 22, 1999, Mr. Butler fired her, saying her job has been "dissolved."

15. Defendant's acts, as outlined above and in the EEOC's complaint, violated 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-3(a).

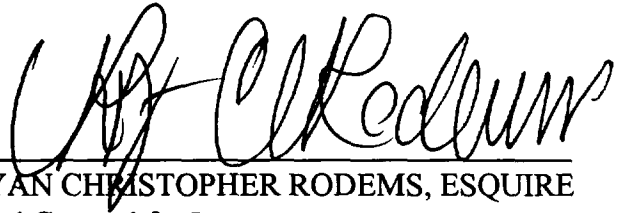

16. Defendant's acts against Intervenor in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-3(a) were done with malice and reckless indifference to Intervenor's protected rights.

17. As a result of Defendant's acts, Intervenor has suffered mental anguish, loss of capacity for the enjoyment of life, loss of earnings, loss of ability to earn money, and other monetary damages. The losses and expenses are permanent and continuing and she will suffer the losses in the future.

WHEREFORE, Intervenor Zechella demands judgment for damages, punitive damages, interest, costs, attorneys' fees, and back pay, and requests injunctive relief, including, but not limited to, front pay, reinstatement of employment and employment benefits, and enjoyment of Defendant from any further prohibited discrimination against Intervenor, and for all other relief, legal and equitable, that this Court deems appropriate, and Intervenor further respectfully requests a trial by jury of all issues so triable.

CIVIL ACTION NO.
99-2218-CIV-T-26F
COMPLAINT
JURY TRIAL DEMAND
INJUNCTIVE RELIEF SOUGHT

NATURE OF THE ACTION

This is an action under the Equal Pay Act of 1963, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and Title I of the Civil Rights Act of 1991, to correct unlawful employment practices on the basis of sex and retaliation, and to provide appropriate relief due to Dena Zechella and any other similarly situated individuals as a result of such unlawful practices.

As stated with greater particularity in paragraphs nine through fourteen below, the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission ("EEOC" or the "Commission") alleges that Defendant, Outback Steakhouse of Florida, Inc., paid female employee Dena Zechella at wage rates which were less than rates paid to a male employee performing the same or substantially equal work or otherwise discriminated against her because of her sex. The Commission further alleges that Defendant transferred and subsequently discharged Ms. Zechella because of her sex, female. In addition, the Commission alleges that Defendant used and/or attempted to use an illegal release. For example, Defendant attempted to have Ms. Zechella sign a release, through coercion, containing provisions which violate Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, and subsequently retaliated against her by denying her employment benefits on the sole basis of her refusal to sign such an unlawful release.

same establishment for substantially equal work on jobs the performance of which requires equal skill, effort, and responsibility, and which are performed under similar working conditions.
