ROBERT F. KENNEDY, JR., in his official capacity as Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services, et al.,

Defendants.

Case No. 1:25-cv-11916-WGY
The Honorable William G. Young
Magistrate Judge: Hon M. Page Kelley

PLAINTIFFS' MOTION TO LIFT STAY AND CONTINUE THIS CASE ON SCHEDULE DURING THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWN

Plaintiffs, American Academy of Pediatrics, et al., by and through their attorneys, hereby move this honorable Court to lift the stay entered on October 2, 2025 (ECF # 122) and continue this case on schedule during the federal government shutdown. In support of their motion, Plaintiffs state as follows:

1. On Friday, October 17, 2025, the Administrative Office of the United States Courts announced that, as of Monday, October 20, 2025, the federal courts “will no longer have funding to sustain full, paid operations. Until the lapse in government funding is resolved, federal courts will maintain limited operations necessary to perform the Judiciary’s constitutional functions.”¹

¹ “Judiciary Funding Runs Out; Only Limited Operations to Continue,” <https://www.uscourts.gov/data-news/judiciary-news/2025/10/17/judiciary-funding-runs-out-only-limited-operations-continue> (the “Announcement”).

2. The Announcement further stated that “[f]ederal judges will continue to serve, in accordance with the Constitution, but court staff may only perform certain excepted activities permitted under the Anti-Deficiency Act.” Id. (emphasis added). The Announcement set forth examples of excepted activities, including “activities necessary for the safety of human life.” (Emphasis added). The Announcement gives each individual court the discretion to “determine which cases will continue on schedule, and which may be delayed.” Id.

3. At its core, this case is about the safety of human life. Plaintiffs here challenge a Secretarial Directive (“Directive”) dated May 19, 2025, signed by Defendant, Robert F. Kennedy, Jr., the Secretary of the United States Department of Health and Human Services (the “Secretary”), that ordered the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (“CDC”) to remove from its immunization schedules the recommendation that pregnant women and children ages six months to 17 years of age receive the Covid-19 vaccine. The Secretary inexplicably issued this Directive six weeks after a meeting of the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (“ACIP”) at which a CDC official recommended that pregnant women continue to receive the Covid vaccine because pregnant women continue to face an increased risk of severe outcomes from contracting Covid. (Plaintiffs’ Second Amended Complaint (“SAC”), ECF # 99, ¶ 4). At that same meeting, another CDC official presented findings that, in the past year, 7,000 children were hospitalized with Covid, half of whom were previously healthy, and 152 had died from Covid. Id. The medical science demonstrated that continued protection against severe disease requires immune boosting, which provides protection against both infection risks and the development of long Covid. Id. In spite of this evidence, the Secretary, a mere six weeks later, posted a video on social media platform X in which he stated that he “couldn’t be more pleased to announce that, as of today, the Covid vaccine for healthy children and healthy pregnant women has been removed from the CDC recommended immunization schedule.”²

4. The Directive threatens the safety of human life. It has sown “chaos and confusion” in doctors’ offices and pharmacies around the country as to whether health care providers can administer the Covid-19 vaccine to children or pregnant women. See, e.g., Declaration of Mary Cassie-Shaw, MD, FAAP, ECF # 118-6, ¶ 6 (“The Directive has caused chaos and confusion at my practice on whether we can administer the COVID-19 vaccine to children and whether we can get it.”). The Directive sent “a message to parents discouraging them to vaccinate their children with the Covid-19 vaccine.” Declaration of Dr. Margie Andreae, ECF # 118-5, ¶ 9. The Directive made it difficult for Jane Does 1 and 2, who are/were pregnant, to get the Covid-19 vaccine. See Declaration of Jane Doe, MD, ECF # 118-1, ¶ 12 (“I have called several pharmacies and my employer’s health resources to try to figure out if I can get a Covid-19 vaccine during my pregnancy to protect myself and my baby ... but the pharmacies I have called could not make any guarantees that I could be able to get the vaccine there as a pregnant person”); Declaration of Jane Doe 2, ECF # 75-12, ¶ 8 (even though she had a prescription from her obstetrician, a pharmacist “refused to administer the Covid vaccine to me. The pharmacist stated that she could no longer administer the Covid vaccine due to the new CDC recommendations.”). The way to protect an infant less than six months old from Covid is for the mother to receive the vaccine during pregnancy, which results in the passing of antibodies to the fetus that are protective for months post birth. (SAC, ¶ 4). As stated in the amicus brief filed by the American College of Obstetricians & Gynecologists and 19 other national and state medical organizations, “[b]ecause newborns and infants in the first six months of life have immature immune systems and are not eligible for Covid vaccination, they also face exceptional risks from Covid infection. ... Volumes of resulting clinical and real-world evidence show that vaccination helps prevent severe Covid and is safe for pregnant individuals, fetuses, and infants. The Secretary's Directive ignores the proven safety and effectiveness of Covid vaccines in these categories of patients, needlessly placing them at greater risk of facing the severe adverse outcomes described above.”³

5. Plaintiffs are mindful of the burdens placed on this Court and other government employees involved in this case due to the lapse in funding. However, with no end to the shutdown in sight,⁴ Plaintiffs are compelled to ask the Court to lift the stay entered on October 2 (ECF # 122) and order that this case proceed with alacrity. Any further delay in resolving this case increases the risks to the health and safety of every American.⁵ “COVID has a summer peak, and then it wanes a little bit, and then ... what it has been doing is picking up again around Thanksgiving and Christmas, as people start gathering.”⁶ True subject-matter experts understand that now is when it is most important to “ensure maximum protection against COVID-19” by getting “updated seasonal Boosters” during the respiratory virus season, which has begun. Declaration of Shannon Scott-Vernaglia, M.D., ECF # 75-15, ¶ 16. A prompt outcome in this case can help clear up at least some of the confusion that the Directive has caused about Covid-19 boosters.

6. Although Defendants oppose this motion, Defendants cannot seriously dispute that this case is of great and immediate urgency. Plaintiffs have presented this Court with sworn testimony from multiple doctors and subject-matter experts around the country that the Directive endangers human life. An infectious disease doctor in Chicago and member of Plaintiff Infectious Disease Society of America attests: “I can assert confidently and without qualification that, based on my professional experience as a pediatric infectious disease specialist with more than 20 years of experience, more children in my practice will contract COVID-19 and experience severe COVID-19 symptoms, including long COVID, and even die of COVID-19 because of the May 19 HHS Directive that is now presently causing parents of my pediatric patients to doubt the safety of the COVID-19 vaccine and refuse COVID-19 vaccination.” Declaration of Dr. Ravi Jhaveri, ECF #, 75-14, ¶ 9. A member of the American Academy of Pediatrics and owner of two pediatric practices in Michigan believes the “Directive ... will, unfortunately and very likely, lead to more illness and death.” Declaration of Dr. Molly O’Shea, ECF # 118-8, ¶ 5. The current President of Plaintiff American College of Physicians who practices in Florida attests that the Directive “contradicts the evidence of the effectiveness of the COVID-19 vaccines that I helped establish as a COVID-19 Vaccines Work Group member and has caused and will continue to cause needless negative health outcomes and death for my ... patients.” Declaration of Dr. Jason M. Goldman, ECF # 75-18, ¶ 36. The pediatric medical director at the New Bedford Community Health Center in New Bedford, Massachusetts, declares that the Directive can lead to “bad patient care and places not only the patient but their family and household contacts at risk of severe morbidity and mortality.” Declaration of Jennifer Leaf Jaeger, MD, MPH, FAAP, ECF # 75-28, ¶ 5. A physician in Arkansas who conducts clinical care for pediatric and adult patients, including pregnant women, believes that if the Directive is not vacated, “my patients will face preventable suffering and death.” Declaration of Robert H. Hopkins, Jr., MD, MACP, FAAP, ECF # 75-26, ¶ 37.

7. While Plaintiffs specifically challenge the lawfulness of the May 19 Directive regarding the Covid vaccine, larger issues swirl around this case. The measles outbreak that began in Texas earlier this year continues, with 1,596 measles cases reported in 42 jurisdictions in the United States as of October 14, 2025.⁷ The Secretary’s response to the measles outbreak was to downplay the effectiveness of getting vaccinated against measles and instead advocate that “good nutrition remains a best defense against most chronic and infectious illnesses.”⁸ Whooping cough (pertussis) cases have increased 81% in Florida this year over last year, which signals “waning immunity, gaps in vaccination coverage, or increased community spread, all of which put vulnerable populations at risk.”⁹ More than 750 current and former employees of the Department of Health and Human Services have gone on record that the Secretary’s “dangerous and deceitful statements” make him “complicit in dismantling America’s public health infrastructure and endangering the nation’s health by repeatedly spreading inaccurate information.”¹⁰

8. While the Secretary disclaimed during his confirmation process that he would not pursue an anti-vaccine agenda despite his previous virulently anti-vaccine positions,¹¹ the circumstantial evidence is strong that this is exactly what he is doing.¹² The Secretary’s pursuit of this sub rosa agenda has thus far gone unexplained and unchecked. This lawsuit simply asks the Secretary to explain himself, which is what the Administrative Procedures Act requires. The Secretary should be required to explain why he “couldn’t be more pleased” to remove recommendations that pregnant women and children get a life-saving vaccine and why he is not putting the safety of human life at risk with his unilateral and unexplained changes to United States vaccine policy. If anything needs to be urgently addressed, it is the safety of human life. Accordingly, Plaintiff medical and public health associations implore the Court to lift the October 2 stay, keep this case active on its docket during the shutdown, and continue to move this case towards a final adjudication on the lawfulness of the Directive under the Administrative Procedures Act.

9. On September 30, the day before the shutdown began, the Court cancelled the hearing on the Motion to Dismiss that was scheduled for October 8. On October 1, 2025, the first day of the shutdown, counsel for Defendants sought Plaintiffs’ consent to stay the due date for Defendants’ reply brief in support of their Motion to Dismiss (then due two days later on October 3) due to the lapse in funding to the Department of Justice. Out of sympathy for counsel’s situation (e.g., potentially not being paid during the shutdown), and in the hope that the shutdown would not last that long, Plaintiffs agreed at that time not to oppose the motion to stay. However, with Monarez, who testified at a subsequent Senate hearing that the Secretary demanded that she pre-approve all ACIP recommendations sight unseen and terminate career staff involved in vaccine policy. She testified that “He just wanted blanket approval. Even under pressure, I could not replace evidence with ideology.” <https://www.npr.org/sections/shots-health-news/2025/09/17/nx-s1-5544143/cdc-director-susan-monarez-testimony-rfk>.

At that same hearing, Dr. Debra Houry, the former Chief Medical Officer of the CDC, testified that she resigned “‘because Secretary Kennedy’s actions repeatedly censored CDC science, politicized our processes, and stripped agency leaders of the ability to protect the health of the American people.’” Id. Dr. Demetre Daskalakis, who also resigned from his position at CDC as Director of the National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases when Dr. Monarez was fired, stated in his resignation letter posted on X that “[t]he data analyses that supported this decision [to change the adult and children’s immunization schedules, the action being challenged here] have never been shared with CDC despite my respectful requests to HHS and other leadership.” https://x.com/dr_demetre/status/1960843433473376602.

the end of the current government shutdown nowhere in sight, Plaintiffs respectfully – and urgently – request that this Court enter an Order that:

- a. lifts the stay entered on October 2 that stayed the deadline for Defendants to file their reply brief in support of their Motion to Dismiss (ECF ## 102-104);
- b. sets a deadline for Defendants to file their reply brief in support of their Motion to Dismiss;
- c. sets a hearing date on Defendants' Motion to Dismiss; and
- d. grants other relief that is appropriate under the circumstances.

A Proposed Order is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

10. Counsel for Plaintiffs conferred by telephone with counsel for Defendants on October 20, 2025. Defendants oppose this motion. Plaintiffs' Local Rule 7.1 Certificate is attached hereto as Exhibit B.
