NO. C01-1351 TEH

CLASS ACTION

ORDER DENYING MOTION TO SHORTEN TIME

On April 3, 2007, Medical Development International ("MDI"), a non-party in this action, filed (1) a Motion to Intervene pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 24(b), (2) a Motion for "Instructions,"<sup>1</sup> and (3) a Motion for Order Shortening Time to hear the above motions on a highly expedited schedule. Indeed, it makes the extraordinary request that the Court grant its Motion for Leave to Intervene in this action at the same time it grants MDI's request to shorten time to hear MDI's Motion for Instructions on April 9 or April 16, 2007. See MDI's Ex Parte Motion to Shorten Time at 9; MDI's [Proposed] Order Shortening Time. Such a request effectively asks the Court to grant MDI intervenor party status immediately.

The Court has carefully reviewed MDI's Motion for Order Shortening Time, the Receiver's Opposition thereto, and the record herein. The Court concludes, for the reasons set forth below, that there is no present emergency justifying the expedited schedule sought

<sup>1</sup> This motion asks the Court to "instruct" MDI and the Receiver regarding the legality of MDI's operations in two California prisons, and MDI's obligations to continue providing such services.

1 and that the matters raised by MDI can be adequately addressed pursuant to the rules
2 normally governing such motions in this Court.

4 BACKGROUND

5 MDI is a Florida-based company that specializes in providing public and private 6 correctional facilities with access to physician and hospital services outside of the facility.
7 Willich Dec. ¶ 3. In March of 2006, MDI entered into negotiations with the California
8 Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation ("CDCR") to provide such services at two 9 prisons in Southern California, California State Prison, Los Angeles County ("LAC"), and 10 California Correctional Institution in Tehachapi ("CCI"). Willich Decl. ¶¶ 2, 11. In April 11 2006, a Receiver appointed by this Court on February 14, 2006, assumed management of the 12 CDCR's medical health care delivery system.

13 In the Fall of 2006, MDI began providing services to LAC and CCI although no 14 contract had been finalized. According to MDI, a former Assistant Secretary at CDCR in the 15 Office of Health Care Policy (Darc Keller) told MDI that it could begin providing the 16 services because it was a "common practice within CDCR for its contractors and providers to 17 start work before the final contractual form is provided by the Department of General 18 Services." Id. at ¶ 13. No contract, however, was ever finalized.

19 At some point during the Fall of 2006, certain employees within the CDCR, who were 20 now reporting to the Office of the Receiver, informed the Receiver for the first time that 21 senior CDCR officials were attempting to enter into a $26 million multi-year contract with 22 MDI to provide specialty medical services at LAC and CCI without following the State's 23 competitive bid process. Hagar Dec. ¶ 3. The Receiver's Chief of Staff, John Hagar, 24 thereafter looked into the matter and states that he learned the following:

25 (1) CDCR officials had in fact permitted MDI to commence a program to provide 26 specialty outside medical services at LAC and CCI without engaging in any competitive
27 bidding process and without a valid contract, and that senior CDCR officials were pressuring 28

1 CDCR contract personnel to approve the contract based on an inapplicable order issued by 2 the undersigned judge on March 30, 2006;

3 (2) MDI is not licensed to practice medicine in California and CDCR and other 4 attorneys for the State had concluded that MDI's scope of work therefore violated
5 California's prohibition on the corporate practice of medicine<sup>2</sup>;

6 (3) Health care personnel were reporting that MDI had effectively monopolized access 7 to outside specialty care services in one of the prisons, thereby precluding use of more 8 efficient and less expensive alternatives such as telemedicine in certain instances; and

9 (4) The existence of potential billing irregularities including (a) billing rates that 10 appeared excessive for the services provided and (b) demands for Medicare reimbursement 11 based on rates utilized in Santa Clara County although the services were being provided in 12 Kern County. Hagar Dec. ¶¶ 4-5. CDCR contract experts informed the Chief of Staff that 13 they had never before seen such a proposed arrangement. Id. at ¶ 5(f).

14 In light of these concerns, and the apparent irregular manner in which the arrangement
15 had begun, the Chief of Staff requested that the California Office of Inspector General 16 undertake an investigation (currently pending) and recommended to the Receiver that he 17 suspend payments to MDI pending resolution of the legality of the arrangement. MDI was 18 also informed in December 2006 or early January 2007 by former senior CDCR official Dr.
19 Peter Farber-Szekrenyi that it was possible that "CDCR would conclude that MDI needs a 20 medical license." Willich Dec. at ¶ 17. The Receiver subsequently suspended payments to 21 MDI pending resolution of the legality of the contract. The last payment MDI received was 22 January 12, 2007. Willich Dec. ¶ 9.

23
24
25
26
27 <sup>2</sup> California's prohibition on the corporate practice of medicine is designed to avoid 28 the conflict between the professional standards and obligations of the medical profession and the profit motive of corporations. See Conrad v. Medical Board of California, 48 Cal.App.4th 1038, 1042 and n.2 (1996).

1 In February 2007, MDI met with the Receiver (and members of his staff) who 2 expressed their "very strong concerns" that MDI's services violated California's restrictions
3 on the corporate practice of medicine. Also discussed were two related but independent 4 issues: (1) the rates being charged by MDI for its services which seemed exorbitant, and (2)
5 the lack of information regarding the rates that MDI was paying physicians under contract
6 with MDI. Hagar Dec. ¶ 7; see also Dodd Dec. ¶¶ 3-4.

7 MDI states that in the course of this meeting, it told the Receiver that MDI might 8 decide to stop providing services given the suspension of payments, and that the Receiver 9 responded by threatening MDI that it would never work in California again if it withdrew 10 from providing services. Willich Dec. ¶ 19; Heffernan Dec. ¶ 2. While the meeting
11 undoubtedly grew heated at times, the Receiver's Chief of Staff disputes MDI's 12 characterization of this exchange. According to Mr. Hagar:

13 During meeting, MDI's response to the concerns of the Receivership ranged 14 from threatening legal action, to threatening to discontinue services 15 immediately at CCI and LAC, to alleging that it was the innocent victim of 16 misconduct by the CDCR and that it wanted nothing more than to enter into a 17 formal and legally binding agreement with the State. At the conclusion of the 18 meeting, MDI conceded that it was faced with a serious business decision: 19 either to cease doing business at LAC and CCI or to convince the Receiver that 20 its contracted activities did not violate California law. The Receiver 21 emphasized that his primary concern was protecting patient care. The Receiver 22 urged MDI to prove what it claimed, that its business practices were legal; 23 however, he emphasized to MDI that if MDI made the decision to cease patient 24 services at LAC and CCI they should do so in a manner that provided for 25 continuity of care. The Receiver stated at the meeting that if MDI suddenly 26 dumped both contracts in a manner that jeopardized patient care, as MDI had 27 threatened to do, he would not utilize MDI's services any where else in 28 California's prison system.

Hagar Dec. ¶ 8 (emphasis added).

Subsequent to the meeting MDI contacted Mr. Hagar and stated that MDI had decided to continue providing services, notwithstanding the suspension of payment, and to demonstrate to the Receiver that its services conformed to California law. Hagar Dec. ¶ 9.
MDI's actions are consistent with this understanding – it continued providing services and on March 7, 2007 provided the Receiver with a legal analysis of its operation.

MDI did not, however, take this opportunity to obtain an opinion or analysis from either of the administrative entities with expertise in this area: the California Medical Board and the California Department of Consumer Affairs.<sup>3</sup> Instead, on March 7, 2007, MDI provided the Receiver with a legal opinion from MDI's retained counsel, James Walsh, who argued that MDI's services were lawful, and provided a revised proposed scope of work and a new rate structure. See Willich Dec., Ex. E; Dodd Dec. ¶ 5. On request from the Receiver, MDI also provided sample agreements between MDI and physicians and hospitals. Dodd Dec. ¶ 7.

In response, the Receiver provided these materials to the legal staff at the California Department of Consumer Affairs who advised the Receiver that they generally agreed that the MDI's original versions of their described scope of work "appeared to violate the prohibition on the corporate practice of medicine." Dodd Dec. at ¶ 8. They also "agreed that the . . . most recent, proposed scope of work. . . did not fully address the issues or resolve the concerns . . . about the legality of the services." Id. They also indicated "that the sample agreements themselves raised additional questions, did not fully describe or disclose the actual relationship between MDI and the providers, did not adequately discuss or describe the rates those providers charged and, in the end, did not provide sufficient information for them to make a definitive determination regarding the lawfulness of MDI's activities." Id. at ¶ 8.

Given the above, the Receiver declined to accept MDI's own legal analysis as persuasive. Rather, in a letter to MDI dated March 26, 2007, he detailed his continuing concerns regarding (a) the legality of MDI's operation at LAC and CCI, and (b) MDI's failure to disclose the details of MDI's relationship with providers. See Willich Dec., Ex. F. The Receiver invited MDI to obtain an opinion from the appropriate State agency attesting to

<sup>3</sup> The California Medical Board is responsible for enforcing the prohibition on the corporate practice of medicine. The California Department of Consumer Affairs is the parent agency for the California Medical Board.

1 the legality of its operating model “as it actually exists at the two prisons at which MDI is 2 providing services.” Id.

3 Somewhere around this time, MDI began discontinuing some of its services in light of 4 the suspension of payments. Willich Dec. ¶ 24. Specifically, MDI began “cancelling [sic] all 5 high-dollar procedures & on-site specialties at this time due to non-payment of services.” Id.
6 Although MDI did not directly notify the Receiver of this development, the Receiver’s Chief 7 of Staff confirmed that, as of week of April 2, 2007, there was a substantial backlog of 8 patients waiting for specialty care and that MDI was cancelling all outside consultations
9 exceeding $5,000 regardless of the seriousness of the health care problem. Hagar Dec. ¶ 12 10 (a), (e). (emphasis added).

11 The Receiver had previously developed an alternative back-up program to provide 12 specialty medical services at LAC and CCI given (1) the questionable legality of MDI’s 13 services, (2) the uncertainty over MDI’s continued performance given the disputes between 14 MDI and the Receiver, and (3) anecdotal information that Mr. Hagar was receiving that 15 access to specialty care at CCI and LAC remained problematic despite MDI’s representations 16 to the contrary. Hagar Dec. ¶¶ 11-12; Willich Dec. ¶ 4-5 (setting forth MDI’s view of 17 progress made). Accordingly, once the Receiver learned that MDI was withdrawing its 18 services, and doing so in a manner that appeared to jeopardize the medical interests of the 19 Plaintiff class, the Receiver implemented his alternative program effective Friday, April 6, 20 2007, and instructed CCI and LAC to discontinue utilizing MDI for specialty services as of 21 this date. Id. at ¶ 13.

22 23 II. LACK OF EXIGENT CIRCUMSTANCES

24 Having reviewed the record herein, it is clear that no current exigent circumstance 25 requires the Court to abandon normal procedures and take action on the extraordinary 26 emergency schedule sought by MDI.

1 MDI first argues that an emergency schedule is necessary to avoid injury to the inmate
2 class because MDI cannot continue to provide services without payment and the Receiver
3 can not provide adequate services if MDI ceases to operate at LAC and CCI. As described 4 above however, the Receiver has already implemented a plan to provide speciality care 5 services at LAC and CCI, and MDI is no longer providing those services. As such, there is 6 no basis for concluding that emergency action on MDI's motions is necessary to protect the 7 medical health needs of the inmate class at LAC and CCI.

8 Second, MDI contends that an emergency schedule is necessary because MDI can not 9 continue sustaining the $700,000 per month burden of providing services at LAC and CCI 10 without payment. MDI's Mot. To Shorten Time at 2. This circumstance is no longer an 11 issue, however, as MDI is no longer providing services at either LAC or CCI. Nor, as the 12 record has clarified, is MDI under any threat with respect to conducting business generally in 13 California. While an issue remains as to MDI's entitlement to reimbursement for the value 14 of services it provided over the last couple of months while payments were suspended, there 15 is no basis in the record for concluding that resolution of this issue requires urgent action.
16 Nor is it clear that this Court would be the appropriate forum for addressing this issue.

18 CONCLUSION

19 As the record before the Court reflects, MDI recently began providing medical related 20 services at LAC and CCI without a finalized contract and without the knowledge of the 21 Receiver. Upon learning of the contract, the Receiver discovered numerous and significant 22 potential irregularities and legitimate questions regarding the legality of MDI's scope of 23 work. The Receiver gave MDI an opportunity to demonstrate the legality of its operation 24 and to address other concerns as well. Understandably, the Receiver was not satisfied by an 25 opinion of MDI's own counsel given the countervailing assessment provided by the relevant 26 state agency.

1 While MDI's subsequent strategy of filing motions seeking emergency relief may 2 have been effective in attracting attention to this matter, the record does not demonstrate the 3 need for proceeding on an emergency basis.. MDI began discontinuing its services and the 4 Receiver has substituted an alternative plan for providing speciality care at LAC and CCI.
5 Accordingly, MDI's request that the Court immediately grant it status as an intervenor party
6 and schedule its "Motion for Instructions" on shortened time is denied.

7 MDI may, of course, proceed with its Motion for Leave to Intervene by filing a Notice 8 of Motion pursuant to the rules that normally govern such motions. See Local Rule 7. In the 9 event that the motion is granted and MDI obtains the status of a party in this matter, MDI 10 may then notice its Motion for Instructions.
