First, the parties have failed to comport with the Court's Local Rules requiring that they submit a redline version highlighting the changes made between the Court's form protective order and the one submitted by the parties. More importantly, the parties appear to have omitted any reference to the Court's Local Rule 5(g) regarding documents filed under seal and the standard set forth therein. Instead the proposed order references a "lodging" system for proposed sealed documents, which this Court does not utilize or support. Accordingly, the Court will not accept the proposed protective order. Nothing in this Order prevents the parties from submitting another stipulated protective order in compliance with the Local Rules and curing any deficiencies discussed above. The Court reminds all counsel that they are expected to be familiar with the Court's Local Rules and the procedures and practices of this Court. (SSM) (Entered: 08/14/2017)
